UNFORTUNATE TANNER.

James Tanner, better known as "Corporal" Tanner, has resigned his position as commissioner of pensions. Practically, there was a demand that he should resign. For some time there had been some differences between the commissioner of pensions and Secretary Noble of the interior department. Tanner is an honest fellow, a man of much natural ability, and in these respects merits the responsible position which he has held under Harrison's administration. But his tongue is constantly going. He is a splendid public speaker, but has no sort of control over the unruly member. He did not mean to do any one any harm, and he did not wish to appear foolish in his public utterances, but his mouth got away with him almost constantly, much to his discredit, and very much to the deep humiliation of Secretary Noble, in whose department Tanner was an official. Those who read one of his speeches at the late encampment in Milwaukee will remember some of his remarkable utterances which dishonored the man and shamed the grand army. This sort of talk had continued for some time when Secretary Nobles became disgusted, and one of two things was necessary for Harrison to do—either to find a new commissioner of pensions, or accept Secretary Noble's resignation.

James Tanner has quite a history. He is 47 years old, and at the age of 18 he enlisted as a private in a New York regiment. He was made a corporal, and in 1862, when only 19, while fighting in the second battle of Bull Run, a shell from the enemy shattered both legs, and to save his life both were amputated. He afterwards became a shorthand reporter, was employed as such in the war department, and when President Lincoln was dying he was called into the room to take testimony in regard to the assassination. Since then Tanner has filled various federal offices in Brooklyn, where he lives. His appointment to the position of commissioner of pensions was thought to be a worthy one, and would have been had it not been for his indiscreet talk. It is thought that President Harrison will tender the position to Major William Warner, of Kansas City, Missouri, ex-congressman, and late commander of the national encampment of the G. A. R.

Elliott Shepard, the insufficient editor who harlequinades with the New York Mail and Express should be more explicit in his quotations of Scripture. There are some charming verses immediately applicable to him and his work that would edify greatly his readers and throw an exposing light among the obscurities of his editorial page. We suggest to him some few of these:

The Lord opened the mouth of the ass.—Numbers xxii., 28.
Abide ye here with the ass.—Genesis xxii., 5.
The firstling of an ass thou shalt redeem.—Exodus xxxiv., 20.
He found a new jawbone of an ass.—Judges xv., 15.
Whose ass have I taken?—I. Samuels xii., 3.
A whip for a horse, a bridle for the ass.—Proverbs xxvi., 3.
Who hath loosed the bands of the wild ass?—Job xxxix., 5.
Who hath sent out the wild ass free?—Job xfxix., 5.
A wild ass alone by himself.—Hosea viii., 9.—Inter Ocean.

The Inter Ocean, which is usually just, should be just toward Colonel Shepard. He does not write much for the Mail and Express, leaving that part of the work on the paper to Major J. M. Bundy, a graduate of Beloit college, for a time conected with Milwaukee papers, and for twenty years or more the editor of the Mail, which is now known as the Mail and Express. It is a splendid evening paper, and Major Bundy is one of the ablest editorial writers in New York city. Colonel Shepard's peculiar notion of daily placing scriptural texts at the head of the editorial columns of the Mail and Express may not be in keeping with the Inter Ocean's idea of the fitness of things, but they do no harm, and if he wants to spend some of the Vanderbilt money in making the Mail and Express a rattling good republican paper, no one should object.

Mention has already been made of the illness of Senator Spooner, but the following from the State Journal will be of interest:—Telegrams announcing the illness of Senator John C. Spooner at his home in Hudson. Mr. Spooner has been confined to his bed for ten days, but the fact of his illness was not generally known. He is suffering from a low fever, the senator having contracted a cold some time ago, which has assumed the present phase of his indisposition. The report of his illness for nearly a fortnight back was received with a good deal of surprise. It is not believed, from the tenor of the telegrams received here, that Senator Spooner's friends need feel alarmed, especially as it is stated that there is an improvement in his condition. However, the senator's illness is sufficiently serious to unfit him for active work for some time to come, and he will cancel his engagements in the Dakotas, Montana and Washington, where he had proposed making half a dozen campaign speeches before election day in the new states.

The fuss over the anti-saloon speech at the Foraker meeting in Xenia on Saturday probably disturbed nobody less than himself. His attitude with regard to the liquor question is well known and clearly defined. Both he and Mr. Lampson, the candidate for lieutenant governor, have boldly proclaimed their opposition to the law-breakers of Cincinnati and other cities, and neither of them is likely to go back on this honorable record. What really provokes their opponents is that they should have the courage of their convictions.—New York Tribune.

There are a good many democrats, especially in Ohio, who are always ready to make a fuss when a prominent republican takes strong grounds against the saloon. These touchy persons seem to think that a republican has no right to take issue with the law-breakers of Ohio or any other state. Governor Foraker has the courage of his convictions, and is not afraid to make a manly attack upon the great disgrace in American politics—the saloon.

The late S. S. Cox, in the language of General Sherman, was "a regular summer sunbeam to his immense crowd of admirers." Mr. Cox was a democrat, but hardly anyone would ever know it from associating with him. It is very appropriate to add, in speaking of Mr. Cox, three lines from the poet—

That best portion of a good man's life,
His little, nameless, unremembered acts
Of kindness and of love.

Colonel J. A. Watrous, editor of the Sunday Telegraph, has been appointed collector of customs at Milwaukee. President Harrison could not have found in all Milwaukee a more deserving man for that office than Colonel Watrous. He is a royal good man, a Jonathan-like friend, was a brave soldier, and has the ability to fill the office in the most creditable manner.

A timely suggestion: "Ike" Marvel and R. D. Blackmore, the novelist, are giving up writing and turning market-gardeners: If some other writers would follow these illustrious examples, the sum of the world's suffering would be lessened.

On the supposition that John L. Sullivan will go to congress, the poet of the Washington Evening Capital furnishes the following:

The congressman closes his manual now
And scorns parliamentary schools,
With the member from Boston they'll all have to bow
To the Marquis of Queensberry's rules.

Chicago State Journal:—Up in Wisconsin they have an idea that Senator J. C. Spooner would make a splendid president of the United States.

The London strike still continues, and it is a very disastrous one, but the strikers are orderly, and therefore put American strikers to shame.

A man can do more harm with his tongue in six months than he can repair in six years with his pen. Ask Tanner about it.

HE TOOK A FIT.

One Man Discharged Him Because It Interfered with His Day's Work.

A gang of men were at work on a Pittsburg street when a slight, beardless youth laid down his pick and, approaching the foreman, said to him:

"Can I take a fit, sir?"

"Take what?" asked the foreman.

"A fit—I feel one coming on," replied the the young man, without emotion.

"Why, certainly," said the foreman.

So the young man walked over to a bit of grass under a leafy tree—it was a new street in the suburbs—and had a fit.

Then he went and washed his face, came back to his place in line, took up his pick and struck into work. After the day's work was over the young man said to the foreman:

"You don't mind my having fits?"

"No—I guess not, if you do a fair day's work."

"Well, you see, I used to work for a butcher an' he wouldn't let me take fits—said it interfered with business—an' I thought you might feel the same way about it."

And that young man works hard with a pick and shovel and takes a fit once in a while as you or I might take a drink of water.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. O. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with abscess of lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says. "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of lung troubles. Was given up by doctors, Am now in the best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at F. Sherer & Co's drugstore.

They All Favor Reciprocity.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 13.—The Senate committee on relations with Canada heard representatives of the coal, cotton, manufacturing, nail, and leather industries, all of whom favored reciprocity with Canada and the abolition of the duties on the products in which they were interested as necessary to New England interests. They also opposed interfering with Canadian roads. T. Jefferson Coolidge of the Amoskeag manufacturing company said his company employed 7,000 operatives, one-half of whom were Canadians. Of these four-fifths became American citizens. They were frugal, temperate, and law abiding. The committee went to Worcester as the guests of Senator Hoar.

In Bath Township, Ohio, a three-year-old child of James Yeakum was burned to death. The child's clothes caught fire from the stove, and before the mother could extinguish the flames the little one was fatally burned.

Dr. B. MINCER, the eminent optician of Detroit, Mich, will visit every town in this county during the summer. Anyone suffering with weak eyes, or eyes abused by inferior glasses, should not fail to see him. Orders left at the postoffice will be promptly attended to. No extra charge for examing or visiting patients at their homes.

MAY SETTLE THE STRIKE

DOCK DIRECTORS ASK FOR THE MEN'S PROPOSALS.

The Destruction at Antwerp---Stanley Marching to the Coast---Affairs Across the Sea.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—It is hoped that a settlement of the great strike will be reached to-day. The mansion house strike committee announces that a more amiable feeing prevails on both sides and that only extraneous questions now prevent a settlement. Cardinal Manning had a conference with the dock directors yesterday and urged them to agree to compromise the matter by raising the men's wages Nov. 1. They decided, however, to adhere to their original offer to advance the wages Jan. 1. After the conference the cardinal informed Messrs. Burns and Tillett that he had been charged by the directors to tell them that if the strikers had any other terms to suggest it was for them to first agree among themselves what the terms should be. The directors had nothing from the men at present which they considered sufficiently clear and explicit. If the leaders of the strikers formulated final proposals and presented them through Cardinal Manning the directors would again consider what course they would pursue in response to the strikers' demands.

The Pall Mall Gazette suggests that an organization be formed to raise the £10,000 which the dock companies claim they would lose by raising wages Nov. 1 instead of Jan. 1. It says that a leading business man has agreed to contribute £2,000 provided the balance is contributed immediately.

Australia sent an additional £700 to the strikers' fund to-day.

THE ANTWERP EXPLOSION.

Entire Destruction of the Cartridge Factory---A Village Has Vanished.

ANTWERP, Sept. 12.—Nothing remains of the cartridge factory in which the explosion occurred last Friday. The village of Austruwell, which was situated 200 meters from where the factory stood and which consisted of about forty houses, has vanished. The hydraulic machines used in the dry dock were destroyed, with the exception of the cranes. A number of merchandise depots, including the Prussian stores, which were constructed of iron, were overturned by the force of the explosion and an immense quantity of goods was ruined. For a distance of from five hundred to one thousand meters the windows of houses were shattered. Not a drop of the burning petroleum got into the docks, the depots being surrounded by a high embankment. According to the official report 135 persons were killed, 20 are missing, 100 were seriously injured, and 200 were slightly injured. The story that several British tourists were killed by the explosion is not true.

Stanley Marching to the East Coast.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 13.—A cable dispatch from Zanzibar to the government of the Congo State, says:

"Henry M. Stanley, on leaving the basin of the Albert Nyanza, endeavored to make his way southward by passing to the west of the Victoria Nyanza. He failed, however, in his attempt. He then went northward and reached the eastern shore of the lake. Emin Pasha accompanied him. After a long stay on the border of the lake awaiting supplies from Msalala and Tabora, Stanley, leaving Emin Pasha, marched in the direction of Mombassa. He is expected to reach the eastern seacoast about the end of October."

An Anglo-German Agreement.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—The Vossiche Zeitung says it believes that negotiations are on foot for a new agreement between England and Germany regarding Africa. It is probable, the paper says, that the Sultan of Zanzibar will cede the islands of Mafia and Pemba to Germany as an offset to the Benadir concession to England.

Has Rev. Mr. Barfield Been Murdered?

DUBLIN, Sept. 13.—The Rev. Mr. Barfield, the Congregationalist minister and Unionist lecturer, has been missing for several weeks. He was recently threatened by the invincibles. It is feared that he has been murdered. The sharpest detectives in Ireland are on the case.

An Epidemic in Turkey's Capital.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 13.—Cholera has made its appearance here and is causing considerable alarm among the residents of the capital.

New Canal to Be Built.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—A movement is on foot in Edinburgh for the construction of a canal from the Frith of Forth to the Clyde.

SYMPATHY FOR MRS. COX.

Letters of Condolence Pouring In--The Dead Statesman's Funeral.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Seldom has the news of the death of a public man brought such a tide of messages of condolence from societies, associations, clubs, and individuals as that which has flowed toward 13 East Twelfth street, the home of the widow of Congressman Cox.

Letters and telegrams from the most eminent men of the nation lie side by side with expressions of sympathy from Mr. Cox's humbler friends. Thursday afternoon the body was taken to the First Presbyterian church at Fifth avenue and Twelfth street, where it lies in state. The guard of honor consists of the members of the Steinwehr post, No. 192, G. A. R.; a deputation from the Letter-Carriers and Postal Clerks' association, and the Peter Cooper post of the G. A. R. At 5 o'clock the church doors were thrown open, and from that hour until 10 o'clock all who wished to view the remains were permitted to do so.

Sons of Veterns Elect Officers.

PATERSON, N. J., Sept. 13.—The encampment of Sons of Veterans has elected the Hon. Charles F. Griffin, secretary of the State of Indiana, Commander-in-Chief to succeed Gen. Abbott of Chicago. Joseph B. McCabe of Boston, Gen. Leland J. Webb of Kansas, Col. Frank L. Perkins of New Hampshire, Lewis L. Roke of Pennsylvania, and Gen. Merwin L. Hall of Michigan, were also candidates. The nomination was made on the twelfth ballot, when McCabe withdrew in Griffin's favor. Col. Bagnely of West Virginia, was chosen Lieutenant-Commander, and Capt. George W. Pollitt of this city, Adjutant-General.

Greenbackers' Convention.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 13.—The simonpure Greenbackers, led by George O. Jones, held a national "mass" convention here Thursday with twenty-five persons present. William O. Thompson of Kentucky was made temporary chairman and committees were appointed. Mr. Jones made a long address. Twelve States—including Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, and Minnesota—were represented.

TODD'S.

"BURTON AND INDIA PALE ALES" are acknowledged by judges to be superior to the Imported English Ales. They have the virtue of being strictly pure—nothing save malt and hops, and of the choicest quality, enters into their composition. Consequently all the nutritive tonic and restorative properties those ingredients are known to possess are found judiciously blended in these brands of ale —Brewery east end Milwaukee street bridge.

TOURNAMENT TOOK IT.

Ridden by a Saddle Boy He Captures the Great Eastern Handicap.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Coney Island Jockey club determined to hold races at Sheepshead Bay, no matter what condition the weather was. The day was decidedly bad for racing; the rain was so blinding that the spectators could hardly see the start. The track was fetlock deep with mud. The event of the day was the Great Eastern handicap, for which twenty horses started. The lottery of racing was admirably exemplified in the result. The Hearst stable relied upon the $40,000 colt, King Thomas, but he was left at the post, and the race was won by his stable companion, Tournament, who was so little thought of as a winner that a stable boy rode him. Other winners were Cartoon, Oarsman, Badgly, Gregory, and Bell Wood.

On Other Tracks.

At Chicago Tommy R., Spalding, Harry Kuhl, and Sayre were the winners.

At Cincinnati the 2:35 unfinished trot of the previous day was won by Pointer in 2:26; the unfinished 2:24 trot by Lottie W. in 2:23½, and the 2:27 trot by Reality. Guy made a mile in 2:12 in an attempt to beat the time of Maud S. (2:08½).

At Toledo Sam P. won the 2:40 trot in 2:24½, Willard M. the 2:80 pace in 2:22, and Effie H. the running race.

COLORED BAPTISTS AROUSED.

Talk of Resisting Southern Whites With Arms---Resolutions Adopted.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 13.—The National Association of Colored Baptists met here Thursday with 100 delegates present. Some of the delegates were assaulted by a mob at Boxley, Ga., and when they appeared before the association and exhibited their injuries there was great excitement. Many expressed themselves as in favor of advising the Southern brethren to arm themselves and resist further attacks. John Williams, who had been in the hands of the mob at Boxley, advised colored men to fight when attacked if they ever expected to be a people. "Do you know," said he, "that one negro can scare a dozen white people? Carry a pistol and use it on the slightest pretense." The entire day was given up to the discussion of the assault, and an immediate resort to arms was about the only suggestion offered.

The association adopted a series of resolutions denouncing Southern outrages and the murder of blacks, and resolving to lay complaints before the President and the Governors of Southern States and ask for investigations.

DR. CRONIN'S INSTRUMENTS.

They Are Said Now to Be in Possession of the Police.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—The case of surgical instruments which Dr. Cronin carried with him the night he was called from his office to his death has been found. It has been in the possession of the police for a considerable time, and its production in court and the evidence concerning its finding is one of the surprises which the prosecution has been treasuring up for the defense and the public with the greatest care. This evidence will be of such a nature as to form one of the strongest links in the entire chain that has been welded around the defendants in the case, and hence the care the prosecution has taken to keep its find a secret. That it has been made, however, there can be no doubt. Your correspondent has the authority of a Lake View official for making the statement, and, although for obvious reasons he refused to go into particulars of the finding or of the importance of it to the prosecution, he admitted that the instruments had been in the possession of the authorities for some time back, and that the manner of their production in court would be likely to cause a sensation.

TERRORS OF THE STORM AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Extraordinary Escapes From the Fury of the Waves---In Peril by a Midnight Fire.

Scores of Vessels at the Mercy of the Dashing Waters--Awful Destruction All Along the Coast.

A Crew, Lashed to the Rigging for Two Days, in Despair Throw Themselves Into the Sea.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 13.—Five daring men who fought their way through the sea from Atlantic City to Pleasantville and came thence to this city by rail tell this story of the attempt of the people at Atlantic City to escape by train: The people, terror-stricken by the storm, hurried to the depots as if their lives depended on their alacrity. Four heavily laden "storm specials" left the Camden & Atlantic and Reading stations, each with a locomotive in front and rear.

The high tide was nearing its full limit and the hurricane was increasing in strength. The sweeping wind threw the water against the car windows and the heavy coaches rocked to and fro as if in momentary danger of overturning. Long before the mainland was reached the engines were plowing through three feet of water which threatened to put out the fires; a regular sea was ahead, and there was no alternative but to return. The engines were reversed and the trip back, now doubly hazardous because the waters had risen several inches, began. Hardly a furlong had been pursued when the fires were extinguished by the rushing torrents of water, which now dashed against the cars with terrific force, breaking the windows and completely enveloping the trains in sheets of spray.

When it became known to the passengers that their trains were helpless and at the mercy of the rising waters there was a scene of panic that beggars description. Women screamed and fainted, children cried, and men gave way to despair. It was only when the conductors went from car to car and declared that relief engines had been telegraphed for that the frightened passengers became more hopeful. When the rescuers did come it took a mighty effort to pull the train over the sunken and twisted tracks, and it was 8 o'clock before the last train load of weary passengers were pulled slowly into the Camden & Atlantic station.

A Midnight Panic.

The fire on Ocean terrace caused another panic. A guest at the Mansion house, where there were over two hundred and eighty people, the greater number being women and children, describes the midnight scene incident to the fire as follows: "The women came rushing down stairs with blanched faces, wringing their hands, and crying as if the day of judgment had come. Outside banging shutters; creaking signs, the howling hurricane, and hiss and swiss of the swaying trees, the rushing, banging fire engines, and the general commotion attending a fire at night struck terror to the hearts of these women, and they huddled together in the parlors and prayed and sobbed and listened to the consoling words of the men, who knew full well that the danger was still far off."

When the high tide struck the frail dwellings along Mediterranean, Baltic and Arctic avenues a stampede for life began. In one instance a woman was carried by her two stalwart brothers to a place of safety. In another a mother and father deserted their babe in the cradle, and returning later in a boat found the little one dead. Men swam out from their flooded houses bearing in their arms their babies, wives, mothers or sisters. Boats plied to and fro carrying weeping women and terrified children from houses to high ground. No effort was made to save personal property, so sudden and unexpected was the terrible rise in the flood on the meadows. Dozens of houses were picked up bodily by the waves and thrown across the railroad tracks or carried squares away from their original location. Some of them were taken far out on the meadows and tossed around like corks.

A Steamer Lost.

Late at night the shrill whistle of a steamer was heard above the roaring of the surf. She had come ashore opposite Arkansas avenue, and her signals of distress were promptly responded to by the crew of the Atlantic City life-saving station. They hurried along the beach with their apparatus, but the great waves made an attempt at rescue impossible. The colored steward jumped overboard and was washed ashore in a dazed and exhausted condition. Capt. Bowen thinks that the steamer went to pieces during the night and that her crew perished in the angry sea. Fire-buckets and a water cask were found on the beach inscribed with the name Piladoux, and there is but little doubt that they belonged to the ill-fated steamer.

The people in Remy Fegel's Thoroughfare hotel found it necessary to leave. The current was too strong to admit of rowing a boat and Mr. Fegel and six strong men took a party of thirty persons on foot from the Thoroughfare hotel to Atlantic City proper. The women were led several hundred yards through the water, which was up to their necks. There were twelve small children in the party, several of whom belonged to Mr. Van Horn, a costumer of Philadelphia, who was one of the party.

Fleeing the City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 13.—Five loaded trains left this city yesterday. By to-night 15,000 will have left the city. The first train out yesterday had eight passenger coaches and a baggage car, all crowded even to the standing room. The trip across the meadows was one not soon to be forgotten. Hundreds of pleasure boats of all sizes and descriptions were packed close to the railroad. The masts of many of these had to be cut away to permit trains to cross. The water was still high on the meadows and almost reached the fires in the locomotive.

W. W. Donnelly, a telegraph operator, was the first person to reach the city from the mainland. It required six hours to make the journey of five miles from Pleasantville. He had to swim a distance of 600 feet, and the greater part of the way he walked in three feet of water on the railroad ties. It is estimated that $150,000 will not cover the loss to Atlantic City and her interests. A schooner laden with wood is ashore at Braddock's bar.

The Storm Still Raging.

No language can picture the terrible scene along the coast. The wind is blowing with almost hurricane fierceness, driving the rain before it. The half-mile reach of sand between town and coast is a tossing, billowy ocean, bearing wreckage on every wave. Through the mist of spray storm-tattered sails and the naked masts of a score of deserted and dismantled vessels can be dimly seen Since Monday night the storm has raged without abatement. Yesterday's dawn showed a hundred vessels which had sought the haven of the breakwater. The refuge was insufficient. By 11 o'clock the sea broke over the breakwater, wrecked the telegraph station, carried off the big fog-bell, and rushed shoreward, sweeping away the steamboat wharf and dashing the Italian bark Il Salvatori against the iron government pier. The piers of Brown & Co., and Luce Bros., gave way and were swept to sea. The United States marine hospital was dashed from its moorings and sent spinning down the beach. The Lewes life-saving station, forty feet above high water mark, was flooded and its foundation undermined. Hugheville, a suburb between the town and beach, was submerged and its 200 inhabitants fled for life, leaving all their possessions behind.

The first boat came ashore at 9 a. m. Then came another and another. The life-saving crew, reinforced by the Henlopen and Rehoboth crews, have labored almost unceasingly. The crew of every vessel that struck was taken off by these daring men, and not a life was lost. An unknown vessel was sunk off the Brown shoals, and nearly all of the crew drowned. Two reached shore.

Over Forty Lives Lost.

Another vessel was sunk on the Shears shoals. It is not known whether the crew escaped. The total number of lives lost will probably exceed forty. Five of the eight men who composed the crew of the E. & L. Bryan perished where the vessel struck on Brandywine shoals. The mate and two seamen caught a spar and drifted all night. At daybreak it was discovered that one of the sailors was dead, his body being lashed to the spar. The two survivors were picked up by a tug and brought to Lewes. There is a great concern over the fate of the crew of the pilot boat Ebe Tunnell. She put to sea on Monday, and has not been heard from. Pilots John Barnes, Lewis Bertrand, James Boland, Berry Hickman, and a crew of eight men were on board. The New Jersey pilot boat, Edmund, was blown across the bay. New York pilot No. 6. was driven in from the sea, but reached anchorage safely. An unknown schooner is ashore at Rehoboth, and the coast is said to be strewn with wrecks for many miles.

News comes from Rehoboth that the surf is breaking over the Bright house porch, that Surf avenue is entirely washed away, and that the Douglass house is surrounded by water and its inmates are in great terror. Three vessels previously reported lost outside the capes are the schooners Kate E. Morse, Walter Parker, and J. & L. Bryan. Two men, who have come ashore, are the only survivors of these wrecks. The other fifteen who composed the crews of the lost schooners are given up for lost.

The schooner Orrie V. Drisko, from New York for Philadelphia, went ashore this morning. The storm is unabated and the driving rain continues. The wires are down across the beach, and there is no possible way of reaching Henlopen. There is a small schooner ashore at Rehoboth.

A Harrowing Tale.

The mate of the unfortunate J. & L. Bryan told yesterday of the Kate E. Morse of Bath, Maine, and of the Walter F. Parker of Philadelphia. Now the sad intelligence comes that Capt. Tracy and his crew of six men had found their last resting places in the ocean. The history of the two nights aboard the Morse and Parker is one of suffering and despair. The Red Star line tug Argus sighted the vessels on Tuesday night and noted that the men on both were in urgent need of help. So tumultuous were the waves that the Argus was unable to approach, and the captain concluded that the best thing to do was to come to the life saving station and take out the crews. The boat did not reach the life saving station until late in the morning. When it did Capt. Clampett refused to allow any of his men to go out, as they were exhausted.

After the tug left the Morse and Parker the condition of things soon became serious. The storm increased in volume. All attempts to stay on deck were abandoned, and the men on both boats strapped themselves to the rigging and resigned themselves to their fate. All Wednesday afternoon and night and until noon Thursday they remained bound to the rigging. Not a sail or a sign of one appeared near enough to render them any assistance. The men on the Morse could plainly see their fellows on the Parker, but of course could do nothing for them. Those on the Parker took to the rigging several hours before those on the Morse and by their cries it was evident that they were suffering terribly.

Killed Themselves in Their Despair.

Early Thursday morning nearly every man on both ships was almost dumb from exposure and almost stiff from suffering. Finally those on the Parker could stand it no longer, and the crew of the Morse saw one of the men tear away the cords that bound him, and, with a yell, consign himself to a briny grave. In a few minutes another followed his example, then another, and another, until the last man, the captain, was seen to throw himself overboard and disappear in the angry billows. Those on the Morse were horror stricken at the sight they were compelled to view. The impression was forced upon the observers that unless help soon came they would have to put an end to their sufferings in the same way as the other boat's crew. The captain of the Morse kept his courage, and frequently urged his men to keep up heart, as he still had confidence that some one would come from the shore and render them aid.

Thirty-One Lives Lost

The crew of the barge Casilda, from Philadelphia for Boston, loaded with coal, which was wrecked on Brandywine shoal, were taken off by a schooner and landed here this morning. The rain has ceased and there is a moderate easterly wind with cloudy sky now. The life-saving crews have rescued about 200 persons in all from twenty-four vessels.

LATER—In addition to those previously reported, news comes of the wreck of the schooner W. O. Snow of Taunton, Mass., from Philadelphia, coal-laden, with the loss of all on board—nine persons. This makes a total loss of thirty-one.

In the Rigging Forty Hours.

The crew of the tug A. J. Luckenbach, which lay alongside of the schooner Kate E. Morse all last night, succeeded this morning in taking the crew of the latter vessel, nine in number, on board, and afterward brought them to this place. The schooner was blown on to Hawk's Nest about 5 p. m. on Monday, Sept. 9. The crew took to the rigging where they remained clinging to the ropes for nearly forty hours. The men were nearly exhausted when rescued and could not have lasted much longer. It was impossible for the tug to approach the stranded schooner nearer than twenty yards, and the men in the rigging were directed to jump overboard. As a man struck the water a rope would be thrown him and he would be lifted on board the tug. After getting all on board the Luckenbach brought them to this place, where they were landed with the assistance of the life-saving crew. Shortly after the Morse went on the shoal a schooner supposed to be the Walter F. Parker also grounded within thirty yards of the Morse. She soon broke up and those on the Morse saw her crew drown one by one. The Morse is a total loss.

The U. S. S. Standish Damaged.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 13.—The United States steamer Standish, Boatswain John Sinclair commanding, lost her rudder in the storm, and for awhile lay at anchor off Thomas point in a bad way. She was later towed in by the steamer Gov. Thomas and the tug M. Johnson. The Standish was attempting to reach port, steering with her sails, when she was picked up.

CAPE MAY COURT HOUSE, N. J., Sept. 13.—Eleven houses and pavilions have been destroyed here and the storm continues. The Wildwood hotel at Wildwood is a total loss and part of the sea wall is gone. Sea Isle City, Ocean City, and Avalon are cut off from communication. It is believed that Townsend's Inlet drawbridge and several cottages at Sea Isle have been destroyed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—All the transatlantic and coast steamers arriving here today have the same story to tell of terrific seas met on the voyage. The Ward line steamer Columbia, from Havana, is now three days overdue, and considerable anxiety is felt here in shipping circles for the vessel's safety. The steamer City of Rome, which arrived from Liverpool, met the steamer Arizona, hence for Liverpool, on Tuesday afternoon, and took off pilot Jacob Lockmann, who brought the City of Rome into port. The National line steamer England, from Liverpool, reports that she was struck by the storm Tuesday evening. The wind and sea were terrible. One of the firemen was washed overboard. The steamer was almost turned over by the combined force of the wind and sea. She careened until the tips of her yards dipped into the water.

Reports from along the New Jersey coast say that the storm still rages violently.

A Wreck Off Chatham, Mass.

CHATHAM, Mass., Sept. 13.—A sunken vessel has been discovered on Pollock Rip shoal. She is supposed to have been a three-masted schooner with mainmast gone. It is thought she was south-ward bound, and was running for the light-ship in the thick weather last night but failed to get hold of the light and struck the shoal. She bounded heavily all the way across the terribly rough sea, knocking holes in her bottom. She leaked badly and sunk as soon as she struck deep water. It is feared that all hands were lost, as no aid could have reached them.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Sept. 13.—There has been no steamer from Nantucket for three days. All telegraphic communication with Martha's Vineyard and the mainland stopped early yesterday morning. The schooner Edwin, at Edgartown, whose cargo of lime took fire, has burned up. A portion of her sails, rigging, etc., was saved.

OFFICIALS IN CONSULTATION.

The President and His Secretaries Consider the Case of Corporal Tanner.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. — Secretary Tracy went to the White House early this morning. He was soon followed by Secretary Noble, and it was at once assumed that pension office matters were again under discussion.

Following is Commissioner Tanner's letter of resignation and President Harrison's reply thereto:

"Department of the Interior, Bureau of Pensions, Washington, D. C., Sept. 12, 1889.—To the President: The differences which exist between the Secretary of the Interior and myself as to the policy to be pursued in the administration of the pension bureau have reached a stage which threatens to embarrass you to an extent which I feel I should not call upon you to suffer, and as the investigation into the affairs of the bureau has been completed, and I am assured, both by yourself and by the Secretary of the Interior, contains no reflection on my integrity as an individual or as an officer, I herewith place my resignation in your hands, to take effect at your pleasure, to the end that you may be relieved of any further embarrassment in the matter. Very respectfully yours,

JAMES TANNER, Commissioner."

"Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., Sept. 12, 1889.—To Hon. James Tanner, Commissioner of Pensions—Dear Sir: Your letter tendering your resignation of the office of Commissioner of Pensions has been received and your resignation is accepted, to take effect on the appointment and qualification of your successor. I do not think it necessary in this correspondence, to discuss the causes which have led to the present attitude of affairs in the pension office. You have been kindly and fully advised of my views upon most of these matters. It gives me pleasure to add that so far as I am advised your honesty has not at any time been called into question and I beg to renew the expression of my personal good will. Very truly yours,

"BENJAMIN HARRISON."

GEN. BUTLER MADE FACES.

Sensational Scene in the Equity Court at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—There was another scene in the Equity court to-day in the case in which Gen. Benjamin F. Butler and Strong, the contractor, figure. Butler wanted Strong examined in open court. The court overruled the prayer of Butler, when Strong, who is about 80 years old, arose, and, pointing his bony finger at Gen. Butler, exclaimed, dramatically:

"Your honor, I want to tell you that while I was before the examiner that man made faces at me and snapped his fingers under my nose; that is why I wouldn't answer his question."

At this point Strong's attorney pulled the old gentleman's coat tails until he sat down. Butler was on his feet in a moment, and it was necessary to order him down before quiet could be restored.

Boycotting a Colored Postmaster.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The Postoffice Department has taken no steps as yet relative to the Luverne, Ala., postoffice. The appointment there some months ago of a colored man named Gomez was very distasteful to the Democratic residents, and he found great difficulty in getting a bondsman, and afterward, when this had been arranged, further difficulty arose in securing a building for the postoffice, as no one was willing to rent to him. The building which he finally obtained was burned by unknown parties just as Gomez was about to take possession. The department is now waiting to see whether he can find another building. If he does not the postoffice may be suspended.

The Supreme Court's Work.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The Supreme court resumes its sessions on the second Monday in October. It will find about 12,000 cases awaiting it on the docket, or fully three years' work at the usual rate of speed.

SEVENTH POINT

You should read THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS because you can afford it. Price doesn't stand in the way. It's really the cheapest thing on earth. One cent means practically nothing—until you spend it. Then you may make it mean a great deal, according as you invest it. A thing is cheap if it costs little, and is worth much. THE DAILY NEWS is like a telegraph from the whole world to your brain. To keep it in constant working order costs you but one cent a day. That's why it's cheap—because it renders a great service for an insignificant price.

Remember—Its circulation is 220,000 a day—over a million a week—and it costs by mail 25 cts. a month, four months $1.00,—one cent a day.

A GREEDY FISH.

The Remarkable Gastronomical Feats of the Black Swallower.

"Probably the greediest of all fish," said Fish Commissioner Blackford, of New York the other day, "is the 'black swallower,' as it is popularly termed. This fish can perform the seemingly impossible feat of swallowing another fish from eight to ten times larger than itself. Its true habitation seems to be at a depth of 1,000 fathoms. It has an elongated body of nearly uniform thickness from the head nearly to the tail. The skin is destitute of scales; the mouth is very deeply cleft, extending behind the eyes, and reminding you of the chestnut about the boy who was said to have so large a mouth that when he opened it the top of his head was an island. The peculiarity of the swallower's mouth is that some of the teeth, all of which are long and sharply pointed, are movable. Let the swallower espy a fish many times larger than itself and it darts upon its victim like a flash, seizes it by the tail and gradually climbs over it with his jaws, first advancing one jaw and then the other. As the victim is taken in the swallower's stomach it appears as a great bag projecting out far backward and forward. The walls of the stomach are so tightly stretched that they are transparent, and the species of the fish taken in may be discovered. Such rapacity is often more that the captor can back up by digestion, and the swallower is forced up from the depths to the surface of the ocean, where it may be picked up. In this way specimens of this rare fish have been obtained and sent to the National Musuem at Washington.

A NEW GAME.

The Latest Amusement Takes the Form of an Information Party.

The newest game takes the form of an information party, and is begun by passing to each gentlemen a card, and to the ladies small pieces of paper, which should be numbered. Those who discover the same number on their card and paper are partners for the game.

Each person must think of a question, sensible or ridiculous, historical or in regard to the weather, to be written on the cards, after which the cards are to be gathered together, and the leader reads each in turn, giving a few moments for the partners to consider the subject and write the answer, which should be read aloud in turn. This is where the fun of the game begins, as many of the answers are exceedingly queer. Those having a correct answer mark their card 10, a wrong answer 0, and if the answer is anywhere near right it is counted 5. When all are added prizes may be distributed as in progressive games for the best and the poorest record.

The instructive part of the game is the discussion which follows the questions. The height of Bunker Hill monument is what everybody living near it ought to know, and yet at an information party held a few evenings ago only one person in a company of twenty was sure of the exact number of feet.

MOTHS IN CLOTHING.

How to Protect Garments from the Ravages of Insects.

More than 150 years ago Reaumur, observing that clothing moths never attacked the wool and hair on living animals, inferred that the natural odor of the wool or of the oily matter in it was distasteful to them. Consequently he rubbed various garments with the wool of fresh pelts and also wet other garments with the water in which wool had been washed, and found that they were never attacked by moths. Experiments with tobacco smoke and the odors of spirits of turpentine showed that both were equally destructive, but it was necessary to close the rooms very tightly and keep the fumes very dense in them for twenty-four hours to obtain satisfactory results. Chests of cedar or sprigs of this tree are so disagreeable to them that they will not deposit their eggs where this odor is at all strong; but should the eggs be laid before the garments are laid away the odor will not prevent the hatching of the eggs nor the destructive work of the larvæ afterward. Clothing may also be protected from moths by packing it in stout cotton or paper bags made perfectly tight, but this must be done before the moths appear on the wing.

An Immigrant Woman's Bustle.

Italian women who land at Castle Garden do not generally wear bustles, but Maria Vincenz Chiara Carrichina was observed to have one on the other day and to be rather anxious about it. She was therefore invited to step into the office, where a female inspector, whose curiosity had been excited, proceeded to explore the uncommon appendage. Her search was rewarded by the discovery of five gold chains, thirty-three pairs of kid gloves, two gold-mounted smelling-bottles, two silver watch-chains, nine gold finger-rings, five gold pendants, and five pairs of gold ear-rings. The jewelry was confiscated and Signorina Carrichina held to answer the charge of smuggling.

Death From Tight Lacing.

A verdict of death from tight lacing comes from a Birmingham jury, expressed as a verdict of "death from pressure around the waist." The subject was a servant girl who died after a fright, and her death was attributed by the medical witnesses to the fact that she was laced too tightly to enable her to stand any sudden emotion. She was a notorious tight lacer, not only at the waist. Her collar fitted so closely that it was impossible to loosen it at the critical moment. Under her corset she wore a tightly-buckled belt.

These excursions will reach points in western Minnesota, Dakota, Iowa, Montana, Nebraska Colorado, Arkansas, Texas, Indian Territory, New Mexico, Arizona and Idaho. This affords our people an excellent opportunity to visit these states and territories at a small expense.

AN ARKANSAS HERMIT.

Well-Trained Animals Act as Sentinels and Guards for Their Master.

There lives in a wilderness section of Columbia county, says a letter from Magnolia, Ark., a hermit. He has wielded a destructive knife and a revolver in a half-score of tragedies, and is constantly on the alert, expecting to be assassinated. This man who has thus forfeited the companionship of mankind is guarded by animals that are well-trained watchmen. He has a magic control of the brute creation, and owns six large goats and an equal number of dogs.

His lonely cabin stands in the center of a fifteen-acre field. When he goes plowing three of the dogs are placed at each side of the field at his row's end. These dogs are trained to patrol the adjacent forest, and no human being can approach without being exposed by these vigilant sentries. At night the dogs and goats lie about the cabin—the goats without the yard enclosure and the dogs within. When any human being approaches these goats set up an unearthly bleating.

The dogs within understand the signal and rush furiously at the intruder. Armed to the teeth the proprietor hails the visitor. If found to be a friend one word from the hermit silences both goats and dogs and the guest is invited in.

Thus guarded this desperate man says he sleeps more securely than the Czar, because unlike the imperial cohorts of the latter, his faithful sentinels can not be bribed or otherwise rendered unsafe by collusion with their owner's enemies.

LINCOLN'S ADVICE.

He Discouraged a Would-Be Litigant and Declined to Take His Case.

The following story gives a good idea of Lincoln's way of practicing law. It is told by one who happened to be in Lincoln's office and heard what passed. He says, writing to Mr. Herndon: "One morning not long before Lincoln's nomination I was in your office and heard the following: Mr. Lincoln seated at the baize-covered table in the center of the office, listened attentively to a man who talked earnestly and in a low tone. After being thus engaged for some time Lincoln at length broke in, and I shall never forget his reply. 'Yes,' said he, we can doubtless gain you case for you; we can set a whole neighborhood at loggerheads; we can distress a widowed mother and her six fatherless children and thereby get for you $600 to which you seem to have a legal claim, but which rightly belongs, it appears to me, as much to the woman and children as it does to you. You must remember that some things legally right are not morally right. We shall not take your case, but will give you a little advice for which we will charge you nothing. You seem to be a sprightly, energetic man; we would advise you to try your hand at making $600 in some other way.'" If this sort of thing was dreadfully irregular and by no means calculated to enrich the firm of Lincoln & Herndon, it furnished reminiscence, the dissemination of which enshrined the senior partner in the hearts of the people.

CINDERS IN THE EYES.

How to Remove Them and Relieve the Irritation they Cause.

Few persons have traveled much on railways without having their eyes hurt by cinders, and there is hardly a train run when the cars are not all closed without some passenger being thus affected, often very painfully. So a capital plan is that reported to be adopted on the Old Colony railroad (Massachusetts). The conductors are are all to be instructed by an expert oculist in the art of removing cinders from the eyes of passengers. The best method in all such cases, if the flow of tears does not soon wash out the foreign substance, as it usually will unless it be a sharp cinder, is to turn back the eyelid, have the eyeball rolled, by looking downward or otherwise, to bring the cinder or dust to view, and remove it with the corner of a clean linen handkerchief. If it clings too tightly for this it can be loosened and removed with the moistened end of a wooden toothpick. The irritation caused is much modified if not entirely relieved by holding the eyes in cold water for a few minutes. If it continues severe drop into the eye a solution of sugar of lead or of white vitriol (sulphate of zinc), say what will lie on a silver half-dime, in half a tumbler of pure water, preferably using very clean rain water.

Spoiled a Sensation.

Reporter (breathlessly)—The people say there has been a suicide here.

Landlady—Yes; a young woman—Ann Blank.

Reporter (rapidly writes)—Miss Annie Blank, the young and beautiful daughter of—— Who was her father?

Landlady—Because she was so homely.

A Beautiful Spectacle.

A remarkable sight was witnessed at the Bailey depot, in Cass county, Mo., on a recent evening. The sun was getting low when a train pulled in and the engine began to let off steam. As soon as released the steam began to form, and in a short time a complete rainbow could be seen a few feet above the engine and reaching to the ground on either side. It was a beautiful sight, and remained as long as the engineer released steam from the engine.

Hay Fever sufferers ought to know of its efficacy. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me as a preventive to hay fever. Have been using it since the 9th of August and have found it a specific for that much dreaded disease. For ten years I have been a great sufferer from August 9th till frost, and have tried many alleged remedies, but Ely's Cream Balm is the only preventive I have ever found. —F. B. A GOOD HONEST MEDICINE.

The above bright and benevolent face, is Dr. A. W. Acker, of England, discoverer of the celebrated Acker's English Remedy for Consumption and other popular preparations. Dr. Acker practised in his younger days among the middle classes of London, and was the means of doing great good, but his health failed and he found himself in the grasp of consumption, with a wife and child depending upon him for support. While in this condition, he discovered the celebrated English Remedy, saved his own life and has since saved the lives of thousands who were on the sure road to death. Any man or woman who feels a tickling in the throat, who coughs, especially in the morning, who raises or has a tight feeling across the chest, who has sharp shooting pains through the lungs or difficulty in breathing, should realize that these are the first symptoms of consumption which, if neglected, are sure to result fatally. Dr. Acker's English Remedy has cured more than one thousand persons who unquestionably had consumption and who were given up by their friends. It merits its popularity and is sold by reputable druggists in every city and town in America. You can't afford to be without it.

FROM DESPAIR TO JOY.

The Painful Story of a Lovely Lady, and How She Finally Secured Happiness.

Mrs. Morton D. Harlan, residing at No. 55 West 25th Street, New York City, has passed through a most wonderful experience. Mrs.

Harlan had a happy home and through her devotion to her home duties over-taxed her strength. She had depressed feelings, entire lack of energy in life, and finally a cough at night and morning which grew worse each day. Upon looking in the glass she saw dark circles under her eyes and found that she was growing thinner and losing all interest in life. This painful state of things continued for months until finally she became so weak she could not attend to her duties and was confined to her bed the greater part of the time. One day Mrs. Harlan's very dear friend Mrs. Willard called and was amazed to see her so wan and faded. Two bright hectic spots stood upon each cheek, her lips were blue, her face pinched and drawn, and there was a piteous look in her eyes. Mrs. Willard knew this meant consumption and her heart was touched for her friend. At her earnest request, the use of an English Remedy for consumption was tried. At the start very little effect could be seen, so great an inroad had the disease made, but by degrees Mrs. Harlan began to regain her lost appetite, then her strength, then her hope, then her health, and she is to-day in perfect physical condition, wholly as a result of the use of Dr. Acker's English Remedy for Consumption.

The lesson of this simple story should be plain to all. No man or woman can afford to neglect those first symptoms of consumption, which seem so slight but which becomes so terrible unless taken in time. This Great Remedy has saved the lives of hundreds of well known men and women who were on the verge of the grave from consumption but who are well and happy to-day. It is sold universally.

TO MONTANA, OREGON AND WASHINGTON.

If you are going west bear in mind the following facts: The Northern Pacific Railroad owns and operates 987 miles, or 57 per cent. of the entire railroad mileage of Montana; spans the territory with its main lines from east to west: is the short line to Helena; the only Pullman and dining car line to Butte, and is the only line that reaches Miles City, Billings, Bozeman, Missoula, the Yellowstone National Park and, in fact, nine-tenths of the cities and points of interest in the territory.

The Northern Pacific owns and operates 621 miles or 56 per cent of the railroad mileage of Washington, its main line extending from the Idaho line via Spokane Falls, Cheney, Sprague, Yakima and Ellensburg, through the center of the territory to Tacoma and Seattle, and from Tacoma to Portland. No other transcontinental through rail line reaches any portion of Washington Territory. Ten days stop over privileges are given on Northern Pacific second class tickets at Spokane Falls and all points west, thus affording intending settlers an excellent opportunity to see the entire territory without incurring the expense of paying local fares from point to point.

The Northern Pacific is the shortest route from St. Paul to Tacoma by 207 miles; to Seattle by 177 miles, and to Portland by 324 miles—time correspondingly shorter, varying from one to two days, according to destination. No other line from St. Paul or Minneapolis runs through passenger cars of any kind into Idaho, Oregon or Washington.

In addition to being the only rail line to Spokane Falls, Tacoma and Seattle, the Northern Pacific reaches all the principal points in Northern Minnesota and Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Bear in mind that the Northern Pacific and Shasta line is the scenic route to all points in California.

Send for illustrated pamphlets, maps, and books giving you valuable information in reference to the country traversed by this great line from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Ashland to Portland, Oregon, and Tacoma and Seattle, Washington, Territory, and enclose stamps for the new 1889 Rand McNally County map of Washington Territory, printed in colors.

—The water in the river is at present lower than it has been for fifteen years.—Rockford Gazette. Not so within several feet at this point.

—Abraham B. Cowing, of Milton Junction, on the 11th day of September, made a voluntary assignment to D. E. Thorpe, of the same place.

—It is reported that two or three thousand dollars of Louisiana lottery prizes of the September drawing enrich two or three Janesville ticket holders.

—Mr. Herbert L. Haskell, who has been clerking for some time in J. M. Bostwick & Son's dry goods store, is now in Madison attending the university.

—People's Lodge No. 460, Independent Order of Good Templars, assemble in regular weekly meeting this evening—lodge room in the Court Street M. E. church block.

—The funeral of the late Mrs. Abbie M. Allen will be held from her late home, 255 North Main street, to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock. The interment will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

—The Gazette force had an opportunity this morning of testing the quality of the county fair premium cake, and all were unanimous in the opinion that the judges made no mistake in making their award to Miss May Carrier, of this city.

—The ball given by St. Patrick's T. A. & B. Society last evening at Hibernian hall was a great success. Supper was served at Mahon's Bower City restaurant. Smith & Anderson's orchestra furnished the music, and dancing did not cease until late this morning.

—A special dispatch from Washington to the Inter-Ocean announces the appointment of Lorain T. Richardson, of this city, son of Hon. Hamilton Richardson, as a cadet at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point for the first Wisconsin congressional district.

—Michael Strogoff's second and final production was given at Lappin's Opera House last evening. Neither evening has the hall been full, yet those who attended expressed great satisfaction with the play. The Ladies' Band sever its connection with the company and go for themselves.

—The steamer Mayflower, Captain Griffiths, will make an excursion twelve miles up the river on Sunday afternoon, leaving her dock at Fourth avenue bridge at 2:30 o'clock. This will be a splendid opportunity for families and others to enjoy a pleasant boat ride in the afternoon.

—The Spring Valley Band stopped on their way down from the fair grounds this afternoon and gave the Gazette office a very pleasant serenade. This is a first class band from base drum to Eb cornet, and the Gazette gratefully acknowledges the compliment.

—Among the interesting features at the Milwaukee Exposition this year are the manufacturing booths. The visitor can see how silk handkerchiefs are made in one booth and how rubber shoes are manufactured in another; there are also carpet looms; willow basket makers, glass blowers, wood turners, etc.

—Our enterprising jeweler, Mr F. C. Cook, received first prize on his display of jewelery at the fair. Mr. Cook had on exhibition over one hundred gold watches, and other valuable jewelery in proportion. Because of the press of job work he was compelled to remove his display from the grounds last evening.

—Kinney & Saunder's Commercial College was represented at the fair by J. W. Saunders of that firm, who took first prize in plain and ornamental penmanship. He and his assistant have been busy upon the grounds distributing their college journals and running both the Remington and Caligraph type-writers.

—The fourth annual ball of the Brotherhood of Brakemen, which will take place to-night at the Light Infantry Armory, bids fair to be a grand success. A large number of railroad men are expected to be present. Smith & Anderson's orchestra furnish the music. Supper will be served at Golling's restraurant. All are invited. Tickets one dollar.

—The Milwaukee street shooting gallery is affording considerable amusement for many of our young men. On Saturday evening the prizes will be awarded as follows: First prize, $5; second prize, $3. Thus far John Baker is ahead, with a score of 114 out of a possible 120; the second money tied between W. B. Taylor and Ed. Broderick.

—Last evening in the vicinity of the passenger depot a horse driven by Mrs. W. E. Addy became frightened at the cars and capsized the buggy. It was indeed, a miraculous escape for all concerned as the buggy contained Mrs. Addy, her sister-in-law Miss Addy, and five children. The horse escaped serious injury, but the buggy was damaged to a considerable extent.

—The Janesville Knights Templar last evening, at the conclusion of their degree work, had a banquet in their dining hall, the tables being furnished by Thomas Mahon, of the Bower City Restaurant, West Milwaukee street, and so complete were the details, and so abundant and choice were all the courses, that the Sir Knights extended a vote of thanks to Mr. Mahon before leaving the tables. The Bower City Restaurant is one of the best in the city, and under the popular management of Mr. Mahon is sure to win a large patronage.

—Perhaps few people know that L. C. O'Brien, our lively dealer in agricultural implements, has in his warehouse at Pleasant street, near the river, quite a curiosity in the shape of a tame Mexican leopard cat. It was captured by his brother, near Sabinas, Mexico, and brought here. It is only four month's old, and as tame as any common house cat. This species is the fiercest of all our American wild cats. after attaining a weight of 50 or 60 pounds. Mr. O'Brien prizes his pet very highly.

—Assistant Factory Inspector J. C. Moore was somewhat surprised to-day on receiving a letter from Commissioner H. M. Stark calling for Mr. Moore's resignation, to take effect on October first. Mr. Moore had been made to understand all along that he would be retained. Com. Stark says, in his letter, that he is compelled to make changes in his office and for reasons over which he has no control, he is obliged to call for Mr. Moore's resignation. Mr. Moore has been a faithful and conscientious officer, and his many friends hereabouts regret that he has been forced to retire from a position he has shown himself so well qualified to fill.

—Prof. W. G. Blaikie, D. D., in Harper's Magazine for October, will call the attention of the American traveler to "A Corner of Scotland worth Knowing"—a corner which is, however, rapidly becoming known to sea-side visitors as having the most bracing climate to be found, perhaps, in the British Isles. He refers to North Berwick, on the southern coast of the Firth of Forth, and the charm and the glory of the place, he says, lie "in its beach, and its links, and its islands, and its sea view, and its Law, and its incomparable fresh air." Joseph Pennell and W. Small, in their accompanying illustrations, keep pace with the author in revealing the beauties of this "curious little conglomerate of a place."

Pullman's Palace Car Co. will have charge of the service on these cars.

DANGEROUS SURGICAL OPERATION.

FORT ATKINSON, Sept. 12.—Surgeon-General Palmer, his son and three other physicians removed an intestinal obstruction from Fred Bold, a farmer at the northern limits of the city. The operation was by excision, and the patient is resting quietly, with no immediate danger from inflammation.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 64 degrees above zero. Cloudy with east wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 85 degrees above zero. Clear with southeast wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 40 and 73 degrees above zero.

LAST DAY OF THE FAIR.

But a Good One for the Agricultural Society.

THE GOVERNOR PRESENT.

Brief Notice of Good Races and Fine Exhibits.

The clouds which overcast the yesterday skies still lowered over us this morning. At any rate, if they were not the same clouds, there were clouds and even damper ones here, for at an early hour this morning a slight shower of rain, lasting but a few minutes, made to-day's prospects for the fair look exceedingly dubious. But when the sun rolled up in sight and commenced his work of relighting the earth, the clouds gradually thinned out and by the time the ordinary run of mankind were out and viewing the weather, the prospects for another big day at the fair could not have been excelled. When Secretary Heimstreet saw the big, big crowd on the grounds yesterday afternoon, he smiled and told President Pember that he thought there was no limit to what the people of Rock county could do when they set out for it.

The crowd did not seem to be in to much of a hurry to get to the grounds as they were yesterday morning and the grounds did not present as animated an appearance during the early hours as they did yesterday morning, but the fact that it was the last opportunity to visit the Rock County fair of 1889, and the very emphatic fact that there were to be some very good races to-day drew a good crowd to the grounds.

As has been previously announced, Governor Hoard arrived on the grounds this fornoon, and was warmly greeted by his hosts of Rock county friends.

The fine display in the various departments, especially of stock, and the exciting horse races had no more interesting spectator than Wisconsin's governor, Governor Hoard occupied a position on the judge's stand, and discussed horse races and and the reforms needed therein with as much interest as any of them.

The Spring Valley Cornet Band came on the grounds about ten o'clock and are entertaining the people with their music. The Spring Valley band don't take a back seat for any of the bands in this part of the country, and they have fully maintained their reputation for discoursing good music, to day.

IN THE ART HALL.

In this hall there is a fine display of the fine arts. It seems to be the opinion of those who are familiar with the character of the exhibits in past years that the art works now on the grounds are the best that have ever been seen at the Rock county fair. Said an artist this morning: "There are fewer poor pictures here this year than have been seen at any previous fairs."

In the class of work in oil many fine exhibits were made, Miss Stella Stafford has a very fine collection. Miss Lillie Godden has some fine specimens of her skill with the brush in art hall, Among them two large screens are attracting much attention and they are indeed works of art. Mrs. M. J. Buell has a large number of exhibits in the domestic and art departments. One of her entries in the painting on plush class, attracts much attention. It is a chair with plush upholstery handsomely painted. Miss Pond and Mrs. E. D. Bailey have some fine specimens of pastelle, india ink and water color work on exhibition. The largest collection of water colors on the grounds is the work of Miss Charlotte Prichard, who also exhibits fine specimens of painting on china and pottery. Mrs. Wellington, of Harvard, and Miss Minnie Jones are among the prominent exhibitors of painting on china. Some specimens of spool work are attracting much notice, and they surely deserve it all. A fine collection of Indian relics placed on exhibition by Miss Mary Pease are the subject of much study and attention. The bead and hair jewelry work of Miss Minnie Jones is very fine.

In the art hall is placed the children's department which is of much interest to nearly every one visiting the grounds.

Among the most attractive features in this exhibit are the pictures, laces, crazy work and embreidery. A little five-year-old girl, whose name will appear later among the takers of first premiums, had a specimen of sponge cake on exhibition which was the finest. The exhibits in this department represent nearly all parts of the county and are a credit to the industry and skill of the young people of Rock county.

The exhibits in the art hall which attracts much attention are some specimens of silk. Two Rock county ladies, Mrs. J. A. Denniston and Mrs. John Haviland have made experiments in this line, and the specimens of raw silk which they have at the fair proves that they know how to manage the little silk producing animals.

There is one sight in this hall which is a familiar one to the older people but much of a novelty to the younger visitors. Mrs. Hannah Creiger sits and spins both flax and wool. She has an old Dutch wheel and the skill with which she twists the unruly wool or flax into a handsome thread reminds one very strongly of ye olden day.

The merchants display in this hall is good. Mr. Alex McGregor has a large display of musical instruments, Decker Bros. and Estee pianos, and Newman Bros.' organs play the prominent part in the display, but the exhibit of other musical instruments is good. Miss May McGregor has the display in charge and has given some charming selections on the various instruments.

The display of F. C. Cook & Co. was a very fine one; over one hundred gold watches were on exhibition in this collection, besides the other jewelry which was shown in large quantities. This display was a very attractive one.

Mr. E. D. Bliss, of Milton, has a fine display of Estee and Story & Clark organs, and Domestic and New Home sewing machines. Miss Sadie Loofboro and Mr. John Barlass have been presiding at the musical instruments.

Kinney & Sanders have an attractive booth, showing some of the work done at their school of short hand and type writing. The type writers are presided over by students of the school. The display is such a one as would be a credit to any school.

Charles Turner has a very large case of pictures on exhibition.

A very novel exhibit of the Kellogg & Davis air tight weather strip is made in this hall.

Shibley & Thompson have some fine specimens of India ink work on exhibition.

The exhibit of Spoon & Snyder is a clever one. Mr. Spoon has the matter in charge. He is showing several new lines of yarns, among which are ostrich wool and coral wool. A finely dressed, large doll stands guard over the whole exhibt and captivates the hearts of all, especi ally of the little girls.

A. P. Davies has a booth handsomely, arranged with a fine display of teas coffees, bottled and canned goods and fancy groceries.

THE CATTLE SHOW.

The exhibits in this department were very good. Mr. Inman was there with his fine herd of Swiss cattle. The exhibits of short horns by the Littles was very good. Some excellent grade stock was to be seen. The display in the cattle department was a creditable one.

THE FORENOON RACES.

The 2:35 trot for a purse of $300, and the farmers' trot for a purse of $50 were on the programme for this forenoon. Both of them proved to be very good races. First was the 3:35 trot. In this race William T. Williams entered Addie Hayes, Charles Kidder entered Bloomfield, G. C. Walsh entered Geo. W. H. Dittmore, entered Whitewater Chief; N. J. Dyer, entered Victory; N. T. Babcock, entered Lady Babcock, and G. Davis, entered Sivad. Harry Howe, Stella and Chief were entered by H. D. McKinney, C. M. Clark and Daniel Danney, respectively, but did not start. The race was a hot one and when the horses turned the three-quarter mile pole it was impossible to tell which was coming under the wire first. But on the home stretch Geo. W. made a dash and won the heat. The next three heats were victories for Victory, which gave this horse the race. It was not easily won, however, for every heat was a close one.

The summary.

Addie Hayes	4	5	3	4
Bloomfield	7	6	5
Geo. W.	1	7	6	3
Whitewater Chief	5	3	2	2
Victory	2	1	1	1
Lady Babcock	6	4	4	5
Sivad	3	2	7	6

Time—2:30½, 2:29½, 2:32½, 2:35¾.

First money went to Victory, second to Geo. W, third to Whitewater Chief and fourth to Sivad.

The farmers' race promised to be a hotly contested one. There were a large number of entries, but the first heat left but four horses in the race, the rest having been distanced. It was an interesting race. The four horses were S. C. Van Galder's Maggie, J. O. Creighton's Duke, D. N. Tiffinay's Charlie, and Duke. Below is the result:

Duke	3	2
Charlie	2	4
Maggie	1	1
Todd	4	3

Time—3:00; 3:00.

This afternoon the 2:50 special class, for a purse of $250, the three-year-old hopeful race for a purse of $50, and the 4:04 race for a purse of $15 are on the program and are furnishing excellent sport.

Immediately after the conclusion of the morning races a grand cavelcade of the stock on exhibition was had. The Spring Valley Band headed the procession, and as it marched past the grand stand, which was crowded, the long array of magnificent stock made a fine spectacle.

After the cavelcade the people were favored with a short address from

GOVERNOR HOARD.

He said: "Those who can sing and wont sing shall be made to sing. Your president, Mr. Pember, has adopted that plan to make me speak, but it is just a fair shake for me to say, how do you do." Mr. Hoard suggested some practical ways of making our county fairs more successful. Our fairs must be made more instructive. When an animal is awarded a premium, let the public be instructed why and for what the premium is given. Then, too much is expected of the secretary. Put each class of exhibits in the hands of a competent man and make him responsible for that particular part of the fair. Let the fair keep abreast of the times.

At the conclusion of the governor's remarks, he was greeted with loud applause.

YESTERDAY'S RACES.

The 2:30 race and the juvenile stake race for two-year-olds were trotted yesterday afternoon as stated in last evening's Gazette. The entries for these races have been already published. In the 2:30 race P. M. Moore did not start Good Gift. The race was a signal victory for Craighead, owned by H. D. McKinney, this horse taking three straight heats. Below is the summary:

Ben H., S. Soverhill	2	3	2
Craighead, H. D. McKinney	1	1	1
Duke, R. T. Prise	5	4	3
Alspice, C. N. Smith	3	2	5
Umber, G. M. McCasson	4	5	4

Time—2:30, 2:32¼, 2:31.

The juvenile stake race was an interesting one, and the equine infants demonstrated that a horse don't need to be an old horse to trot fast. F. C. Stillson's colt Luna took the first two heats and consequently the race. Mr. Stillson justly feels, very proud of the performance of his pet colt. Luna surely is a marvelous two year old. The result of the race is as follows:—

Luna, F. C. Stillson	1	1
Therese Phalamont, H. D. McKinney	2	2

To morrow their will be no fair. The fair this year was a success.

CAPTAIN KING'S NEW STORY.

ILLUSTRATED BY LIFE PHOTOGRAPHS IN THE OCTOBER COSMOPOLITAN.

Captain King's new story which will appear in the October issue of the Cosmopolitan, and marks an increase in the size of that periodical by 24 pages, making it the same size as Scribner's, will contain some features that have never before been presented in periodical literature. When it became necessary to look up the subjects of illustration for Captain King's story, the suggestion was made to have them taken from life. Some of the officers at West Point took kindly to the idea, and with the assistance of some of the most charming young ladies then visiting at the summer hotels in the vicinity, tableaux were formed, and photographs taken, to meet the requirements of the text. These were reproduced by photogravure so as to have the illustrations as near to life as it is possible to present in a work of fiction. These photogravures are supplemented by the work of Harry Beard, who, as captain of cavalry, participated in numerous charges during the rebellion, and also, by Arthur Jule Goodman, whose recent work in the Cosmopolitan has met with such favor. With this new departure in the Cosmopolitan, there will be in the field two magazines (the Century and Harpers) of one hundred and sixty pages each, at $4.00 annual subscription; the "Scribner's," of 128 pages, at $3.00, and the Cosmopolitan, of 128 pages, at $2.40 per annum, the increase in the size (of the last) not having been accompanied by any increase in price. The Cosmopolitan is now the cheapest of the four great illustrated monthlies.

Prepared by a combination, proportion and process peculiar to itself, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures unknown.

THE REV. C. B. WILCOX.

WISCONSIN'S POPULAR MINISTER WANTED AT APPLETON.

The Oshkosh Northwestern publishes the following in relation to the Rev. C. B. Wilcox, formerly of Court Street church, this city: "Perhaps no minister who has ever held a pastorate in Oshkosh, has been in such demand with outside cities as the Rev. C. B. Wilcox. Last night there was a delegation here from Appleton, who wished if possible, to secure his services for next year. They are said to be able to offer him a larger salary than the one which he receives at present. The convention which appoints the ministers to the various charges meets the 24th of this month at Beaver Dam. By the new law of the Methodist church which went into effect last year, a minister can remain five years at the same place.

"And you may be sure," said a member of Mr. Wilcox's church this morning, "that we shall try with every means in our power to keep Mr. Wilcox with us."

"THE GREAT CORN PALACE."

The committees that have in charge the arrangements for the coming Corn Palace at Sioux City, promise a display fare xceeding anything of the character heretofore attempted. The Corn Palace itself, built entirely of corn and grain, will fitly illustrate the agricultural resources of the vast area of country tributary to Sioux City, and the internal displays will epitomize the progress and enterprise of the hosts of earnest workers who are pushing the developement of that favored region in which "Corn is King."

To enable all to vist this "Eighth Wonder of the World," the Chicago & Northwestern Railway will sell Excursion tickets to Sioux City at half rates, or one fare for the round trip.

The Corn Palace will be open September 23d, and close October 5th, and during that period numerous special trains will be run for the accommodation of visitors.

Tickets and full information can be obtained on application to agents of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company.

SOME SOCIAL ECHOES.

The education of the girl of the period is sadly neglected, and goes little beyond small talk and slang, as any one with a remnant of sense ascertains in talking to her.

Some more contested will cases of the kind so interesting to the disciples of "Vanity Fair" are threatened in the autumn when come "the melancholy days, the saddest of the year." The more some relatives get by will the more avaricious do they become.

September begins the season of fashionable marriages again, and they will run up to the day when we eat turkey and tolerate for a month poor relations around the family mahogany. Jenkins tells you already that each and every wedding will be a "brilliant" one.

Americans traveling abroad are occasionally surprised to find living alone, or with some sympathetic relative, the American wife of some heavily titled foreigner who has no idea of the whereabouts of her legal lord. These are "object lessons" worth the consideration of "our American girls."

It is a mistake, perhaps, to assert that "everybody who is anybody" is out of town. There are eminently "nice" families still occupying sumptuous city homes independent enough to disregard decrees of fashion when their own comfort and convenience are concerned. But this class of people is not so large as "Buffalo Bill's Wild West show."

The publicity given to scandal affecting people of no social consequence whatever is much to be deplored, if only for the reason that it gives them, so to speak, a "conspicuousness" to which they are not entitled, but upon which they flaunt about among their betters. These few lines, it may be surmised, are suggested by recent events.

There is nothing like taking time by the bangs, or forelock. A story is told of an ambitious "woman from the States" who has already endeavored to have the newly installed American minister in London put her name on the list for court presentation next May! She is like Rachel now, in tears, because her request could not be given serious consideration.

In early autumn will come to our ever socially-hospitable shores quite a number of English people of title and distinction, whose doors abroad have been opened to Americans. Straightway will they be captured and led like fashionable lambs to the giddy daughters at Lenox, Tuxedo, and Newport. Happy are they whose visiting lines are cast in such pleasant places.

GEOGRAPHICAL FACTS.

There are 700 species of birds in South America of which nearly 300 are peculiar. The turkey and the mocking bird belong to the latter class.

Iceland geographically belongs to America, but is considered by some as belonging to Europe because of its early discovery—in the ninth century A. D.

The length of North America is nearly 5,000 miles, its greatest breadth about 3,200 miles, and its area about one-sixth of the land surface of the globe.

BUSINESS MORALITY.

Never marry until you are 30 years old.

Never keep all your money in one channel.

Think three times before you speak once.

Never deposit money unless you take a receipt for it.

Never be persuaded beyond your own judgment.

Never buy a small place with a fine building on it.

There is nothing in this world but death that is certain.

Weigh all you buy and all you sell, if possibly convenient.

Never buy inferior articles of any kind to make money on.

Four per cent when certain is better than 8 per cent when uncertain.

Buy goods on time only in small quantities, whether wholesale or retail.

Be certain to give your children an English education at any cost if you can.

Never sell the products of the farm you work to any man, on time, at any price.

Never buy property adjoining either a church or a school house if you can avoid it.

If you live in town never invite any company and you will always have plenty of money.

Never stay in a house confined to business close, unless you work in the morning and evening.

Never buy white, sprouty, crawfishy land at any price expecting to make money by cultivating it.

Never loan money to your neighbors, for if you should have to sue them they would be no longer neighbors.

Watch all men, as there are but few who are honest; in fact, there is none honest from the heart in everything.

Never let any person on earth know your business and especially how much money you have, not even your family.

Never let any man know anything about your business, except when you may have some difference and need to advise with a lawyer.

Under the present law when you loan money to any person take a mortgage on the real estate and include both man and wife.

Never work in wells or at any other work that endangers your life, no matter how much you make. Never endanger your life for money.

Never court any girl unless you intend to marry her. There is danger in fooling young girls. Never give them any advantage in a letter.

Search the Bible to find the bottom of the deceitful human heart and say your prayers at night. Think over every day's business at night.

If you have land for sale have it fenced to the cardinal points, so it will take the fewest rails possible to fence the ground. That keeps your land in square shape.

You may sell to irresponsible men anything that you have, but never buy claims, notes, etc., from men that are not responsible, unless you investigate and find that the parties have no offsets against them.

Never employ a clerk at any price; be content with what business you can do yourself. Trust no man further than you are compelled to. Smart thieves always steal about the hours of 10, 11, 12 and 1 o'clock.

Tell a lie rather than the truth when it will save a difficulty, but it must be a lie that no man knows except yourself It is better to tell a lie than to have a difficulty. The good book says: "Blessed is the peacemaker," etc.

If you have a surplus of money never, never loan it out to the people at any per cent, but put it in good bonds; but the United States bonds are preferable, from the fact that the whole United States is bound for it.

If you ever loan money to any person take security if you can get it. If you loan money to a firm be sure to take each of the firm names to the note, then no one of the firm can slip out and say that the money never came into the firm.

Never buy any kind of stocks, it doesn't matter how low or how high they are. Never, never, never, never, from the fact that stocks are too uncertain; the risk is too great; rings are formed and they can raise or lower the price just as they see fit, so they can make money.

If you ever sell goods or groceries be sure to get a house on the square, and on the inside corner if you can, and live on the same lot and in the building you do business in. Be certain to never sleep away from the store house. It is best to have yourself and family live up-stairs, with kitchen below.

Never buy land of any person without first having a good lawyer investigate and pronounce the title clear. Ascertain if the land has passed through the hands of any insane person, to prevent his heirs from suing you on the title. Never pay more than one-half down on the land unless you know you are dealing with responsible parties. Be sure to go and ask all the parties that join the land you are buying to show you the corners of the land they own.
